Mrs. McNeill and Miss McKenney on Program-Many Important Meetings of Interest to Women on To-Day's Calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian II. Cocke and their daughter, Misses Mary Stuart and Janle Cocke are on an extended Southern trip in their private car. Mr and Mrs. Cocke and the Misses Cocke have been in Tampa, Fla., for the past several days, and will later continue their trip to Cuba. trip to Cuba. At the Woman's Club.

At the Woman's Club.

The parlors of the Woman's Club, were crowded to the doors yesterday afternoon for the publication of the "Hardy Annual," edited by the Daughters of the Club, with Miss Cornelia Magill as efficient editor-in-chief. The associate editors and reporters were Misses Jean Field, De Graffenreid Robertses. ertson, Lucille Cullingworth, Roberta Ryle Pleasants. Cornelia Harris, Jane Cushman and Dorothy Hart.

Daffodlis bloomed on the tea tables, and the pretty faces of the editors of the club annual blossomed on the stage, as big note books in hand, they took as big note books in hand, they took their places and contributed their stories and jokes to the edition. The paper went to press amid, much applause and laughter from the large audience present and the "hits" and parodles of the issue were most happily received. The annual has been one of the leading events of the club program for many years past, and the publication yesterday was one of the eleverest that has yet been presented. Novel features of the afternoon were Tenroom Hostesses.

The tearoom conducted by a number of prominent society women in the palm garden of the Jefferson Hotel for the benefit of the open-air schools of Richmond is quite a popular gathering place in the afternoons. Indoor golf is the attraction and two handsome silver cups are to be awarded for the highest scores at the conclusion of the season. Many interesting parties are given there each afternoon, following the Lenten services and the prominent society women in the lowing the Lenten services, and the hostesses for to-day are Mrs. Thomas Branch McAdams, Mrs. Thomas B. Scott and Mrs. de Sota Fitz Gerald. The tea tables will be decorated in bowls and vases of roses and tulips.

WOMEN OLD AND YOUNG VISIT CORSET EXHIBIT

Demonstration Given of Types Best Suited to Various Figures—Old Styles Going Out.

Women old and women young, women tall and slender crowded the salon du Bonton of the J. B. Mosby Company store yesterday to see just how the lividels were corseted. Three models of distinctly different types were used by the figure specialist, Mrg. Sara E. Conklin, to demonstrate the 1915 figure. This figure is quite different from the straight-front woman that society has come to recognize as "au fait."

The audience watched closely, and when a model resembled in some points one of the individual women, they im-
